MENDING HEARTWOUNDS: Bringing Closure And Healing To Ungrieved, Forgotten, or Hidden Loss

Rio Retreat Center's transformative intensive workshops have been designed by mental health experts and are facilitated by licensed, master's-level therapists and certified professionals. Our workshops specifically address the needs of those who are new in recovery, are stable in recovery and want to deepen their experience, or are looking for a source of renewal. Participants work on sensitive issues in a concentrated format, allowing them to enhance their journey by gaining insight into unhealthy, embroiled patterns and practicing new relational skills within a safe environment.

ABOUT THE WORKSHOP

Designed by Tian Dayton, MA, Ph.D., TEP, world-renowned psychodramatist and Meadows Senior Fellow, Mending Heartwounds serves to assist participants in furthering resolution surrounding loss. Some losses are clear, society recognizes them as significant and we have rituals of mourning them. We feel free to ask for support, and more often, support comes our way without our even having to ask.

The kinds of losses that are a part of addiction and dysfunction all too often remain disenfranchised. These losses can lack visibility and clarity; they are hidden and often unseen or misread by others. There can be confusion about who or what exactly was lost or whether there is a loss at all. However, not only do they hurt as much, the very fact that they remain buried, unrecognized and unsupported, can complicate mourning and block our process of grieving. These kinds of losses deserve respect; they need our compassion and care.

Grieving these kinds of losses can bring about change on the inside that leads to change on the outside. Mourning a loss of a connection to self, someone significant, or to a period of life, to addiction and/or dysfunction can be freeing and restoring. It can let us feel whole again, having processed our splintered or buried inner experience and bringing it to comfortable closure. It helps us move on in life, let go of the past and live in the present.
